

FIJI

NATIONAL ADAPTATION PLAN (NAP) VISION

A climate-resilient development pathway enabling Fiji to anticipate, reduce and manage environmental and climate risks caused by climate variability and change to support a vibrant society and prosperous economy.

The mandate for the NAP process stems from the National Climate Change Policy and National Development Plan, which provide objectives and principles to guide implementation. The NAP process is conceived as a continuous and iterative process which builds upon existing policies and integrates adaptation and disaster risk reduction into sub-national development planning processes.

KEY LESSONS ON THE NAP PROCESS

Makereta Konrote
Permanent Secretary for
Ministry of Economy

INCLUSIVE PARTNERSHIPS

"In order for the NAP process—a flexible process that helps integrate climate change into national decision-making—to be successful we recognize we must work in partnership with other government ministries and departments, civil society, donors, regional bodies, scientists, communities and the private sector."

Nilesh Prakash
Head of Climate Change and International Cooperation
Ministry of Economy

HORIZONTAL AND VERTICAL INTEGRATION

"Climate change is a pervasive issue affecting every aspect of Fiji's development. Consequently, we support all Ministries and Departments to mainstream climate change concerns into their work. Additionally, we are ensuring adaptation is integrated into sub-national development planning processes to ensure they meet and are with the needs of local communities."
